RBP'S BOOKS OF ACCOUNT

In September 2015 and consequent upon allegations by Discovery's attorney George van Niekerk, media assassin Beamish, and accountant for hire Vincent Faris, who had been instructed and paid by Discovery and furnished with RBP's entire client database stolen from the Practice server by RBP bookkeeper and serial fraudster Bernadine van Wyk for Discovery, in return for monetary and other gratification offered to her by Discovery, that the Practice had misappropriated client funds and contravened almost every statute which could be remotely applicable to an Incorporated Law Practice, a written invitation was extended to the Law Society to conduct an extensive audit of the Practices books of account.

Despite an intensive Law Society audit extending over 3 weeks, RBP's books of account did not reflect a cent trust shortage, but an excess of R27 million. Not a single client has ever complained to date, notwithstanding the relentless and corrupt campaign waged by Discovery, of not having been paid what was due to him or her, and despite a false allegation by the junior Law Society employee Ashwin Reddy in his contrived report that "the firm poses a risk to the Attorneys Fidelity Fund", the court appointed curator to the Practice of RBP Inc. found exactly the contrary to be the case, when he reported that the Practices trust account balanced to the cent, and that not a single claim had been lodged by any of the Practices clients against the Attorneys Fidelity Fund i.e. no theft whatsoever.

RBP's books are audited annually and no concerns have ever been expressed by its auditors during its 42-year existence. The firm regularly received certificates from the Attorney's Fidelity Fund in recognition of the enormous amounts of interest the firm has paid to the Fidelity Fund.
