

Tweet

Tony Beamish @TonyBeamish

@sallyrawsthorne #BarryTannenbaum #DarrenBobroff #JohnStratton #RonaldBobroff #Bobroffs #JohnStratton The impecunious who attempt to enter Australia are placed in a detention centre and sent packing as soon as possible. @consumerfumer

Richard Lionels @lamavuca Replying to @smh

Tweet your reply

Tweet

consumerfumer
@consumerfumer

So much for living on 'the smell of an oily rag' Looks more like the Bobroff's are living on the smell of blood money illegally appropriated from former clients

Fugitive South African lawyers own property in St Ives, Vaucluse, docu...

Tweet your reply

Tweet

consumerfumer
@consumerfumer

Lends credence to the theory that when money talks justice walks irrespective of the origins of the money and no matter how many brain injured paralysed and maimed accident victims were defrauded

Tony Beamish @TonyBeamish
@sallyrawsthorne
#BarryTannenbaum
#DarrenBobroff #JohnStratton
#RonaldBobroff #Bobroffs

Tweet your reply

EDITORIAL DEFENCE

Roberts-Smith deserves a full and open hearing

The SAS must understand how soldiers handle pressures of modern wars where it is almost impossible to distinguish between civilians and enemies.

1 hour ago

EXCLUSIVE SYDNEY

In his palatial Sydney home, Ronald lives 'high life' on 'smell of an oily rag'

When Ronald Bobroff's son tried to drain the millions from his Israeli account, police were watching.

by Sally Rawsthorne